You can't afford to miss this learning opportunity. Decision Support Information is one of a Project Management Professional's most valuable products; communicating that information effectively is THE most vital responsibility. In a project delivery driven environment this task can be daunting. Faced with unrealistic budget/time constraints, organizational political uncertainty, ambiguity of expectations, human factors (paradigms) and relentless "don't confuse me with facts" stakeholders the Project Management Professional must rise above the "noise" and deliver. Attending this powerful workshop will show you how to easily utilize simple tools and techniques to communicate "truth" and influence outcomes, while inspiring team members (loaned and owned) to new heights of performance.

What students have been saying:

"Intelligent, funny - not focused on "text book" project management but "realistic" Project Management. Thank you - wonderful course!" ~ Kathy Cherubini- National City Mortgage

"Best PM speaker I have ever heard! Lee is consistent, funny and REAL!" ~ Cyndi Zwolinski-Budco-PMO

"IBM wouldn't pay for my training, but I took the chance of spending my own money and I'd do it again tomorrow! Lee is the best facilitator I've ever had!" ~ Michael Spivey- IBM

"As always, Lee gave me a fresh perspective and comic relief. He is a gem!" ~ Lee Pinkerton - The Midland Company
